Before connecting the Adapter to your PC’s USB port, you must install the Bluetooth Software, which will install everything your system needs to use the Adapter. Once this Setup Wizard is installed, you will be able to connect the Adapter to your PC.

A. Insert the Adapter’s Setup Wizard CD into your PC’s CD-ROM. It should start up automatically. If it does not, click Start and choose Run. In the field that appears, enter D:\setup.exe (if “D” is the letter of your CD-ROM drive). Once the CD starts, the Wizard’s Welcome screen should appear.

Click the Install button to install the Bluetooth Software. Clicking the User Guide button brought up this User Guide. Clicking the Exit button will exit the Setup Wizard.

B. After clicking the Install button, the InstallShield Wizard’s Welcome screen will appear. Click the Next button to continue.

C. The next screen is the License Agreement screen. Read the License Agreement and click the radio button for I accept the terms in the license agreement. Then, click the Next button. You may not click the Next button unless you click the button showing that you accept the terms.

If you wish to move back through the Wizard, click the Back button. If you wish to close the Wizard, click Cancel.

D. You will next be asked for a Destination folder. This is where the Bluetooth Software will be installed. A default directory will be displayed but, if you wish to change that, you can click the Change button and select a different folder. Then, click the Next button.

If you wish to move back through the Wizard, click the Back button. If you wish to close the Wizard, click Cancel.
A After a moment, a Bluetooth icon will appear in your system tray.

B To connect the Adapter to your PC, simply plug it into any unused USB port.

Congratulations! The installation of the Adapter is complete.

NOTE: Before you can start using the Adapter, you must run the Bluetooth Setup Wizard, as described in the User Guide.

Connecting the Adapter

G At this point, you should connect the Adapter to your PC’s USB port. (See the description in the next step for details.) After connecting it, click the OK button. If you do not wish to connect it at this time, click the Cancel button. The Adapter may be connected after the Bluetooth Software is installed.

H The Wizard, along with all you need to install the Adapter, has been successfully installed. Click the Finish button to close the final window.

E Now, the Bluetooth Software will be ready to begin installing all of the necessary files. Click the Install button to begin.

If you wish to move back through the Wizard, click the Back button. If you wish to close the Wizard, click Cancel. The files will proceed to install.

F During installation, you may see a Driver Signature Notice. This product has been tested for use with Windows. Click the OK button to continue.
